

Elf attacks man

A person who was dressed as an elf attacked a man who had been drawing on a sidewalk. "I was walking about five minutes before and this disturbing lady was singing all about giving to the FART Foundation," said Maynard Butts yatt. The man was seen with his under wear folded over his head. The police will investigate.

Rainstorm washes out parts of park

The large rainstorm that hit parts of Bumtje and a lot of Hopot washed out parks, a bush and some other things. "My blow up Santa got swept away," said Angus Rubb. There should be more rain in the morning and some afternoon showers. FOR MORE WEATHER-PAGE D

Lighting ceremony cancelled

The lighting of the large tree in the middle of Bumpson Park was cancelled. The reason? someone stole the tree. "There's now only a stump there," said a unidentified person. If you have any information about the tree, please call 377-555-211.

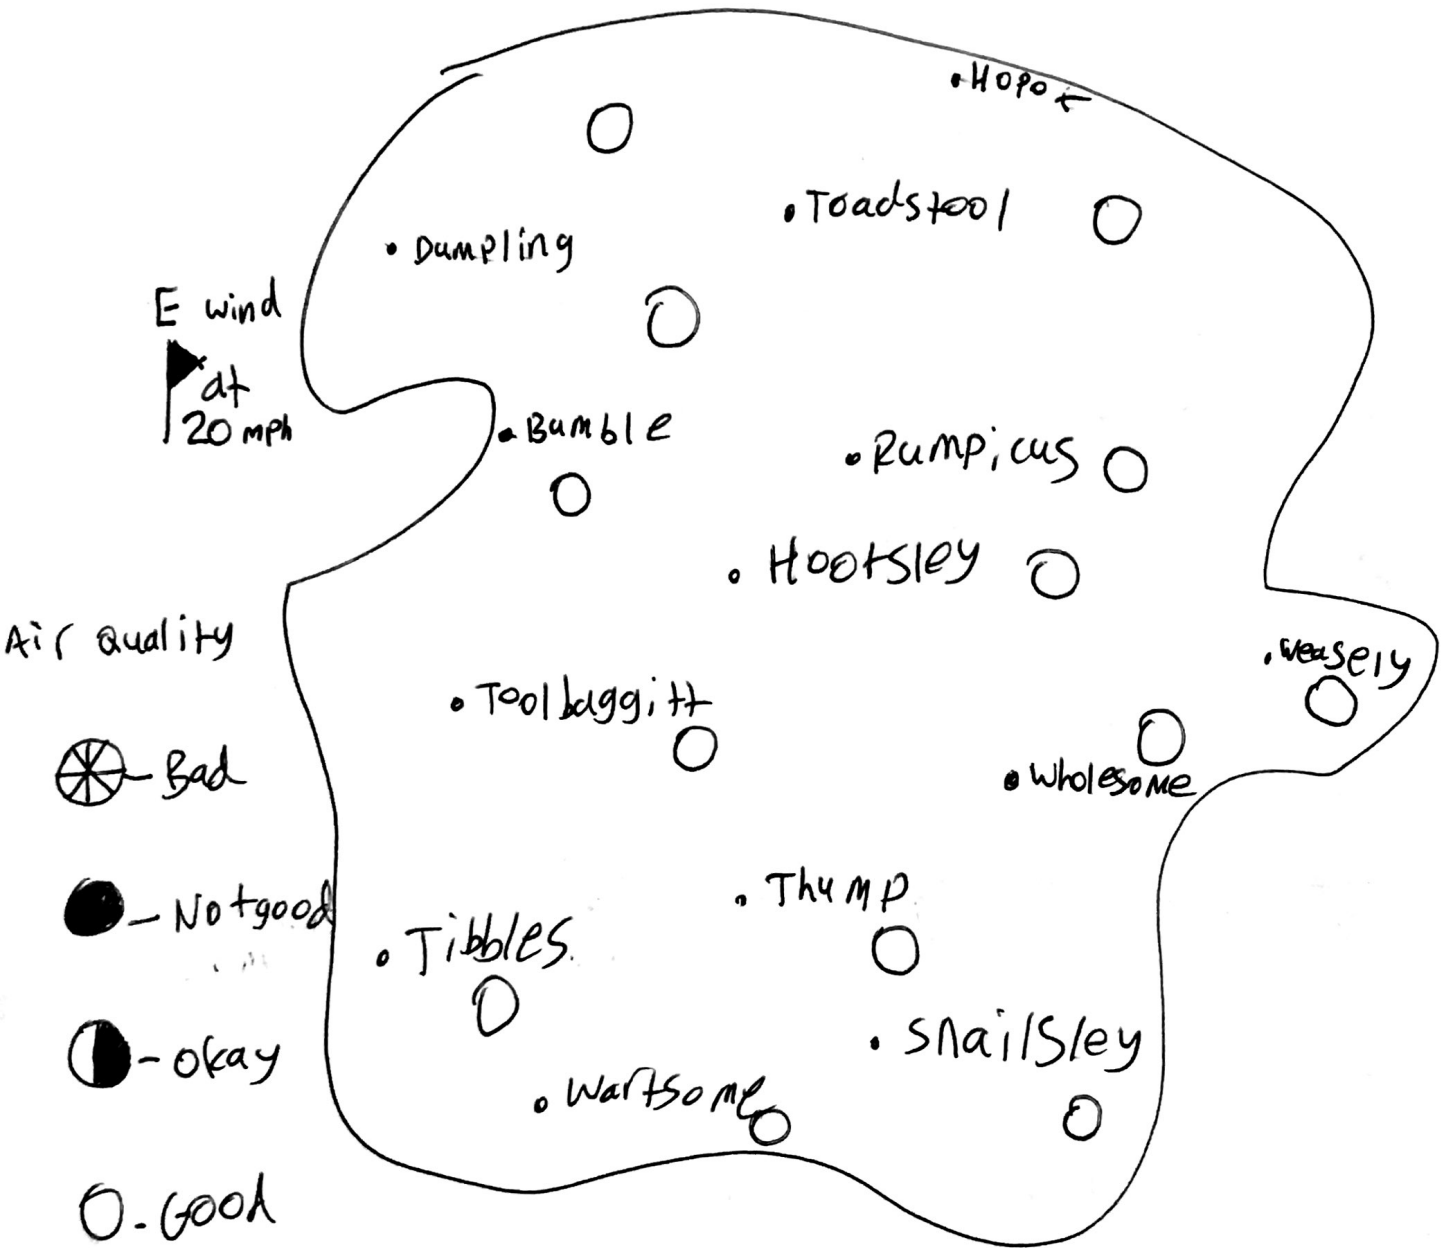

I had quite an odd time taking Nature Ned to the airport yesterday. First of all, there's this sign that says "NO-shoes, NO Coming In." so I had to put on slippers to go inside. I had to go ALL over the place just to find parking and when I did, for some disturbing reason, someone was sitting in the parking space so, I put them into my peace basket and stuffed some socks in this dude's mouth. But he just kept on screaming, so when I walked inside, the security guard confiscated my peace basket and I had to carry all the stuff with me. But, the airport is huge and all my stuff is quite heavy. Then all of a sudden, my pet, pus the rat poked his head out of my hair. However, he learned to play "prop it like it's hot" which is probably the most inappropriate song I have heard since Fluff Daddy played "Hit the Quan" in an alleyway, when widow pippers scooted by on her mobility scooter, pus jumped onto widow pippers, which made her drive right into Maynard Buttsworth, who tripped and got his head stuck in a trash can. While he was tumbling, the candy bar he had been eating flew out of his hand and hit the security guard, who ran right into the music player that started play "Don't know me" which is quite an odd song. I ran away but forgot pus the rat, so I ran back to get him. Then, I went off to go to the snack bar, but this guy had taken all the cabbage and celery cookies. After that, I watched Nature Ned leave to Papua New Guinea. Later, I was walking along the pattered Escalator, when I fell down and someone stepped on me, which made me mad so I threw the oatmeal cookie at the man, who pulled my hair and screamed at me for five minutes. Well, toodle doo, I must catch my cab because my car was towed since I parked in a handicapped parking space.

Able Fable missing, possibly eaten

Professor Able Fable has been missing for more than three weeks and could have possibly been eaten by someone or something. "The last time I saw him, he was saying he needed to find something in the ocean" said Albert Alligator. Some has said he could be depressed or got stuck on a beach. If you have seen him, please write a note on www.findfable.com.

Billy Seal chases Gervihno Dolphin

Billy seal was spotted chasing our local underwear model, Gervihno Dolphin. "I was swimming by and then I saw this bunch of swirling water, so I jumped out of the way." said Malcolm Starfish. Many animals were in distress that Billy was trying chase one of their favorite friends. "Why would someone try to chase him?" Asked J.J. Jellyfish.
