

Gas station collapses, crushes Moose Mating Home

A gas station in Hillbaggit collapsed onto a moose mating area on Enunwa street. The collapse didn't injure any moose but did cause a monkey from the pet store next door, to escape and steal a bag of chips from the gas station. The moose have been mating since december and picked the little gas station because of the warm air blowing out of the back from the vents that reek of frying meatballs. Police responded to the scene and captured the monkey. Officials are trying to determine why the station collapsed.

I went on a cruise to Boris with many friends and had an odd time. This was super fancy and really weird because the waiters had to wear little hats that look like elephants. When I got onto the boat, I had to get a card so I could get food that would be paid to the group. The card had my picture on it and I looked as if I was a dying sloth. The group of friends included Fluff Daddy, Prappada Rappa, Widow Pipkens, Nature Ned, and Terrance Youngbuth. I had to sleep with Terrance and Boy, does he snore! I sounded like I was with a bunch of stampeding goats that were really grumpy. It was about 6:45 PM when we left so me and Nature Ned and the others all had dinner together. When we got the pickles, Horris E'pune said that he couldn't have any because it made him "super gassy." We were sitting next to a bunch of rowdy teens who were saying stuff like "OMG" and "Like ah, it is totally like ah." I think "OMG" stands for Old Mildred's Gang which used to be an alleyway gang that was always raiding stores to get Gladys' sweet treats, which used to be a popular candy back in the hippie day and age. About ten minutes after I went to bed, there was a loud knocking at the door. "Who's there?" I asked. "AIEE! HELP! GET THEM OFF OUR CLOTHES!" I opened the door and in came all of my group along with two raccoons, thirteen monkeys, six pandas, and a turtle. "We were at the Petting Zoo and the people there were closing and letting all the animals come out, but Fluff Daddy had a corn-dog and the animals started to chase us," said Widow Pipkens. By this time, a raccoon had snatched the corn-dog away and was happily eating it. We slept after that interesting experience. In the morning, Nature Ned asked for some pancakes when we were having breakfast. The server said okay but gave him some cow stomach with a piece of dry, old bread draped over it. Nature Ned got very mad so me and Widow Pipkens had to hold him back from attacking the server. Overall, the trip has been pretty good so far. Now, if you'll excuse me, I need to get my Nigerian-masseur, Yahouba Diaward to start my six-hour core muscle massage.
