

Moose Sightings Alarm Farmers

If a farmer sees a moose, it's time to hide the cabbage. Moose sightings have become much more frequent near Willowchuck Farms. "The moose have come and eaten almost all of our cabbage," said farmer Esqvist Snell. Moose like cabbage because of its crunch. Moose move north towards the end of summer so the moose coming is just the beginning of a long trend. The way to get rid of these horned animals is to put sap from the hebbab tree on the plants. The sap has a smell that the moose don't like.

Rudyard's Pancakes Nutritious and Good!  775 Landeskog Road	10+ Esqvist  48 card pakes	Is your sewage backing up? call Cletus and co. Plumbing We'll fix your troubles!
---	--	---

I went to my 50th Middle School reunion and had an interesting time. All the odness began when Christopher Eggqvist fell off the ladder while he was putting up the welcome sign. He ended up getting his head stuck in Principal Tibbles' trunk. Then when Cleus Shniffles went inside the revolving door, the door got stuck and he had to be rescued by the custodian. When people started arriving, I was told to collect tickets. Chester Budge didn't have one so I denied him access. He started sobbing and giving me money. I had zero idea what was going on so I called security. Once the security guys dragged him away, I could collect the rest of the tickets. Inside, a cookie costed $10, which is WAY too much. When the music started playing, everyone started dancing. It was kind of scary seeing Mr. Eggqvist doing the robot. Then there was a large crash. Everyone whipped around and saw Bjarke Tongos with a large stain on his butt and the punch bowl on the ground. "Sorry!!" he said. After we danced for a few minutes, a drop of water fell onto the ground. "Wait... Aren't we inside?" asked Edgar Smalls. We looked up and water started to dump down. The sprinklers had been activated by the cake that had 50 candles on it. Now, the cake was very wet and Cleus Shniffles was eating it. The security told us to go outside and wait. The only problem was that the construction workers who were fixing the school's roof were REALLY loud. Whenever the sprinklers go off at the school, the fire station is notified. So ambulances and fire trucks showed up and acted like we were all severely injured. They started testing us for smoke inhalation. When the emergency vehicles left, it was 9:30 at night so we all drove home. So that was my odd night at the Middle School reunion.

THE END

Dear Egbert,

My neighbor's pigs keep on coming onto our property. Whenever I talk to the neighbors they say "we'll stop them." But then the next day... The pigs are back. What should I do?

Old McDonald

Dear Old McDonald

Get an electric fence.

Dear Egbert,

My friend wants to go on vacation but doesn't have enough money. Should I give him some money so he can go?

Cash Monkey

Dear Cash Monkey,

Does he realize that even if you give him money, he will still be broke after he comes back. So just give a postcard of the place he wants to go. A postcard is pretty much the same thing.

Dear Egbert,

My best friend says he's a hippie because he likes trees. I told him that he isn't. Now he isn't happy with me and we haven't talked in two weeks.

Hippie Patrol

Dear Hippie Patrol,

A hippie is peace-loving person. Just because he likes trees doesn't make him a hippie.

"Grandma, can we talk without your motorcycle helmet on?"

woman to older woman at the Zulu Den

POLICE REPORT

D

June 12: Someone stole a statue, painted it green, and put it in a dumpster.

June 13: A female was upset in a coffee store and threw an apple scone.

June 13: A male was screaming at a late hour that his hand was stuck in a mailbox.

June 14: A woman was cutting her hair in a fountain.

June 15: someone dropped a refrigerator into a creek.

June 15: pillows were stuck in trees.

June 15: Someone dug a hole.

June 16: A man dressed up like a dragon and pretended to eat children.

June 16: A male said, "I'm melting! I'm melting!" in the middle of the sidewalk.

June 16: Females were dancing on lawns.

June 16: A man was spraying champagne at people. It was actually Orangina.