

Christmas tree topples over

Christmas Edition

The big Christmas tree in Central Park toppled over due to strong winds. "It almost hit me in the head!" said Hampus Lindholm. Many people were sent scurrying away so they would not get hit by a flying Christmas tree. The tree will get pulled up later today.

Many try to get gifts for Christmas morning

Some stragglers to get gifts for their family were out in the wind and rain yesterday. "I was getting a gift for my neighbor," said Fluff Daddy. Many have been out getting stuff to fill stockings because of the fact that many stores have closed because of the new fad, rubber chickens. "We've been all out for three days!" said owner of Snuffles toys, Frederick Snuffle. If everyone wants to be ready by Christmas Day, then get out there to get the goods!

Voting tied with Longnose and Snorkle

Voting for the next president has been very close but never was tied before today. Stompy Longnose and Largemouth Snorkle are both tied at 71% of the votes, while Harold Snick has the least at just 1%.

REPUBLICANS		DEMOCRATS
Longnose	71%	Snorkle	71%
wheezly	24%	Putz	19%
Nuff	4%	Barnicle	6%
Snick	1%	Hillp	4%

I to a Christmas party at Fluff Daddy's house and had quite an awkward time. I showed up first to the Fluff Daddy Party Zone (?) for a change. The only food there was pretzels. So I yelled at Fluff Daddy about him wanting us all to have diabetes. Then, Maynard showed up and put all the presents next to the fireplace. I told him that they might catch on fire so he sprinted over and tripped over Nature Ned who was lying on the carpet eating pretzels. I was so angry about the pretzels, I threw the pretzels out the window. Fluff Daddy was so angry about that, he charged at me and an all out brawl ensued. So many people were in it, even the neighbor hoisted himself down through the sky light. Nature Ned told us to be in the Christmas spirit, so he gave us all candy canes. I had NO idea how he got 68 candy canes. Then dinner came round. There had been quite a mixup and when Fluff Daddy asked for ham over his thing that magically sends messages from large blocky device to another, he had sent the message to everyone so we had 67 hams and a jar of peanut butter. People were very grumpy at Maynard because he had taken off his hat and squashed the rat, who was eaten by the cat, who picked up a jar and threw it quite far. It hit Maynard's car, which set off an alarm that startled the cat, who peed on the mat. It had caused quite a bit of hubbub and distress, so everyone was running around and bumping into each other. I tried to make it more peaceful by playing 682 song playlist of meditational songs from the 13th century. But someone had ~~had~~ switched my playlist to inappropriate rap songs that everyone thought was cool. Even Nature Ned!!! then it was time to say our New Years resolutions. Prappa da Rappa said he wants to photoshop a picture of a frog into a sumo-wrestlers head and put the picture's background as a shopping cart in the Food Barn. Once dinner was through, we lit the candles on the Christmas tree. Fluff Daddy lit them so some of the candles were, like, a centimeter away from the chimney. One actually hit the tree... and completely infulged the chimney in flames. And that's why everyone is standing outside fluff Daddy's house while the firefighters put out the burning chimney.

Merry Christmas!

Able Fable Found!!

Professor Able Fable was found yesterday evening in the middle of Animal Lagoon. "I have been gone to American Samoa to look at whales," He said. Able Fable had been missing since November 26. Many people and animals have been wondering where he could have been for almost a month. Others were worrying that he had been eaten since a pile of fish bones washed up onto the beach where Able Fable liked to do research. "I was so scared!" J. J. Jellyfish said.

Berry Bear Hosts Christmas Party

Berry Bear will be hosting the annual Christmas party this year. "I can't wait!!!" Gerald Giraffe said excitedly to reporters. Last year's party was hosted by Albert Alligator, but Berry could not stay underwater for an hour. This year's plans are to have many presents opened at 6:30, then everyone will eat food for an hour. "We'll have a great party!" Gerald said.
